Kindergarten readiness activities : Being a good listener

When you have lots to share in your mind, it is hard to wait for your turn and listen to someone's story. I have found a fun and good activity. It is to make a story together. The first person starts a story with one sentence. Then the next person adds onto the story, and it continues until everyone has contributed at least one sentence to the story. (For smaller groups, you can go around two or three times). This requires listening to what has already been said and making connections, as well as working together as a group. You can do this in a car, at the dinner table, before bedtime, basically anywhere you are. Let's be creative, be a good listener and be good at taking turns!
